

Intelligent Security

We have over 17 years experience providing professional security solutions to a range of blue-chip customers throughout the UK and Ireland. Our well trained, reliable and disciplined staff deliver that elusive goal... peace of mind.

Servicing all your needs

Anchor Group Services provide a wide range of security services in the following sectors:

- Retail and shopping centres
- Commercial and industrial
- Front of house
- Education
- Marine and aviation
- MOD

Manned security

We provide highly skilled and qualified security officers covering a wide range of operational needs. The staff we employ are trained to particularly stringent standards and are recognised by our customers as being amongst the very best security officers in the country.

We take the time to work with you to determine your security requirements, then match security officers with the appropriate experience to fulfill your needs. Our security officers become part of your team, understanding your business in order to help your organisation achieve its goals.

Integrated solutions

We rigorously assess your organisation's requirements and bring together leading security concepts including technology enhancements and management practices to achieve a total crime-control solution for our customers.

Our approach enables us to reduce costs significantly whilst providing robust security controls and observation on-site. We believe that reliable security is a collaboration of disciplines that, once integrated and consistently used, result in a security program that produces measurable results.

Remote monitoring

State of the art technology is used by our trained operatives. The cornerstone of our approach is a site guard replacement system that brings together video monitored CCTV and audio command technology. In the design of your security audit we will recommend other key elements including management practices, lighting, fencing and various access control systems.

“ The staff we employ are trained to particularly stringent standards and are recognised by our customers as being amongst the very best security officers in the country ”

Andrew Harper – Chief Executive, Anchor Group Services

Patrol and response

We provide a mobile patrol service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. These patrols are manned by trained uniformed security officers in liveried response vehicles, who remain in constant contact with our manned control centre via mobile communication.

Our vehicles are fitted with Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) systems, which enable us to pinpoint their position at any time. From this system we can provide printouts as verification of times and dates that our vehicles visit customers' sites.

Keyholding

Our keyholder teams are responsible for ensuring your premises are secure following any incidents. They liaise with alarm companies, repair contractors and the police to re-secure your premises and are backed by our experienced Control Room staff.

Our staff are trained to respond to various types of potentially dangerous situations, in a calm and professional manner, all in accordance with BS7499. Whether they are responding to a real intruder alarm situation, a health and safety incident or a 'client down' alarm, they proceed according to your requirements and liaise with the emergency services and alarm companies to ensure that your premises and staff are safe and secure.

Consultancy

We work with our customers to assess their security priorities and subsequently recommend and implement tailored services based on understanding their needs and any limitations. We then ensure that these requirements are delivered and measured.

Our consultative services include:

- Fire
- System integration
- Security lighting
- Access control
- Client Authorised Site Integrity Evaluations (CASIE)
